

Doctors and Healthcare Continued

Vocab Review

Sick

Feeling unwell and being affected by a disease or illness.

Symptoms

Physical signs or feelings from your body that show that you are sick or unwell

Fever

A rise in body temperature above 100.4 degrees Fahrenheit.

Vocab Review

Cold

Symptoms of a cold include lots of coughing and sneezing, a runny nose, and a sore throat.

Cough

A symptom of a cold or other sickness.

Ache

Feelings of soreness and sensitivity on different parts of your body.

Vocab Review

Flu

The symptoms include aches and pains and temperature over 100.4 (fever)

Medicine

The doctor gives you this to treat your symptoms and get rid of them

Vocab Review

Doctor

The professional who treats you at the hospital when you are sick

Hospital

The building you go to when you are feeling sick or injured

Vocab Review

Sore throat		Pain in the throat
Headache	 VectorStock VectorStock.com/22052228	Pain in the head

Vocab-1 new term

Patient

The person who gets help from the doctor

shutterstock.com • 708403375

Sick

A. feeling unwell and being affected by a disease or illness

OR

B. The professional who treats you at the hospital when you are sick

Medicine

A. Pain in the head

OR

B. The doctor gives you this to treat your symptoms and get rid of them

Headache

A. Pain in the head

OR

B. A rise in body temperature above 100.4 degrees fahrenheit

Auxiliary verb + Subject + Main verb

Auxiliary verb	Subject	Main verb
Are	you	feeling (to feel)	sick today?
Are	you	showing (to show)	symptoms?
Are	you	taking (to take)	your medicine?

Example:

you/?/body aches/are/having → are you having body aches?

Forming “are” questions

- you/feeling/?/sick today/are
- are/showing/you/?/symptoms
- taking/are/your medicine/you/?
- fever/?/you/a/do/have
- you/sore throat/have/?/a/do
- symptoms/are/what/your/?
- are/why/here/?/you

Conversations with your Doctor

Example:

Doctor: What are your symptoms today?

Patient: I have a cough and fever.

Doctor: How long have you had a cough?

Patient: I have had a cough for 2 days.

Doctor: Are you showing symptoms?

Patient: Yes, I have had a sore throat for 3 days.

Doctor: Are you feeling sick?

Patient: Yes, I have been feeling sick for a week.